QUEEN NANDI REGIONAL HOSPITAL BRINGS HOPE TO LEARNERS AT ENGALANGALA PRIMARY SCHOOL

Queen Nandi Regional Hospital recently conducted a heartfelt school uniform handover programme for 11 disadvantaged learners at eNgalangala Primary School as part of the hospital's ongoing community outreach and social responsibility initiatives.

The handover programme was attended by the Hospital CEO, Mrs C.N.N. Mkhwanazi, Senior Medical Manager Dr M. Samjowan, Nursing Manager Mrs J. Marais, HR Manager Mr Ndabandaba, Hospital Board Deputy Chairperson Mrs Zulu, as well as fundraising committee member Dr Mathenjwa.

During the programme, all members present shared words of encouragement and motivation with the learners before the official handover of the school uniforms. The speakers encouraged the children to remain focused on their education, work hard, and believe in their potential despite challenges they may face.

The initiative aimed to restore dignity, build confidence, and support the learners in their educational journey. The hospital leadership reaffirmed its commitment to supporting vulnerable members of the community and strengthening partnerships that promote social wellbeing and youth development.

The learners, educators, and community members expressed appreciation for the generous gesture and the encouragement received from the hospital delegation.
