GLOBAL HANDWASH DAY

As part of health promotion, the department of health conducted a Global Hand Wash day as part of educating the community on safe hygienic practices. The activity comprised of a health walk and a variety of health services which were rendered on the day. The route of the walk started at the Taxi rank, went to Relief Street (in front of Wimpy), then proceeded to Martin Street (in front of post office) and ended at an open space around Junk Shop. All participants were requested to wear blue denim jeans/skirt and a white top. Pink ribbons were part of the dress code in order to observe the breast cancer month.
