POWER OUTAGE AT ADDINGTON HOSPITAL

There will be a planned power outage on Sunday 1 October 2006 between 07h30 and 12h00 at Addington Hospital.

This could result in minor disruptions at the hospital especially in the Accident and Emergency Unit as well as the x-ray department.

There will be a limited Accident and Emergency services. A plan has been put in place to re-route patients to other hospitals, which include: King Edward and Inkosi Albert Luthuli Central Hospital. These hospitals have been notified and alerted.

The power outage is due to the installation and connection of the original automatic changeover switch in the distribution board and at the same time reconnecting the generators.
