UPDATE

October 2018

YOU STRIKE A WOMAN, YOU STRIKE A ROCK...

2018 marks a special commemoration as it is the year of the ‘triple centenary.’ South Africa celebrates the birth of struggle icon Mama Albertina Sisulu and Tata Nelson Mandela as well as the termination of the Bantu Women’s League.

Women's Day emanated from the 1956 Women’s march where thousands of women marched to the union buildings in Pretoria to propose amendments to the urban areas act. The “when you strike a woman, you strike a rock” chant was said during the march.

Women of today are free from the Urban Areas Act because of the brave women who marched in 1956. Even though they are free we cannot run away from the fact that there are still many struggles that women face in this day an age especially the women of South Africa who are faced with challenges of rape, financial struggles, diseases and a lot of other cultural imbalances that affect their day to day living.

Tongaat CHC women gathered at the chronic shelter to remind each other of their worth and enjoy the day together as one. The event was also graced by the presence of Ms. Nonzwakazi Ngcobo EAP from Inkosi Albert Luthuli Hospital.
